

The former Chapin's Drugs building, built in 1923, is now the Post Falls Museum.

One of the Post Falls City Center attractions, the Museum project could never have been accomplished without the dedicated work of past and present Historical Society members, community volunteers, businesses, City leaders, and individual financial and in-kind contributions. The proximity to Post Falls City Hall, the Post Falls Chamber and National Register historic buildings makes the Museum an important visitor attraction. Other historic buildings in our neighborhood include John & Ann Young's house built in 1910, now Rosa's Italian Market & Deli, and the Jacklin Arts & Culture Center in the 1921 "Old Church" building.
